The School Start Time Steering Committee is pleased to share a preliminary, yet inclusive range of bell time options, which are under consideration for adoption in the Greenwich Public Schools effective Fall 2017. The seven options were generated by School Bus Consultants (SBC) and are based on many of the options originally identified by the School Start Time (SST) Steering Committee in the Fall 2015. The Steering Committee was presented all seven options for review at their bimonthly, public meeting on March 18, 2016. While posted on the SST Web page, the options will be widely distributed to parents, staff and community on Friday, April 1, prior to the first community engagement session on April 6, 2016, at Central Middle School.

SBC has developed seven options, which are juxtaposed to the current bell schedules. Each of the seven options presents start and end times for our elementary and secondary schools and budget implications. The estimated amount of extra sleep time minutes gained for high school students is also included under each option. The options are accompanied by a set of comments from SBC for further consideration.

As has been widely announced, there are a series of town-wide engagement sessions planned for April and May, as well as an online response form, that will allow parents, staff, students and the community to share their feedback on the options under consideration. A comprehensive list of dates and times for the engagement sessions can be accessed on the district's website at: www.greenwichschools.org/sst. The important dates are also shared below as a reminder. Finally, a parent, student and staff survey will be disseminated from April 13 - 27, 2016. The survey will provide another opportunity for the district to further ascertain preferences and perspectives regarding the bell-time options.

Assumptions & Comments:

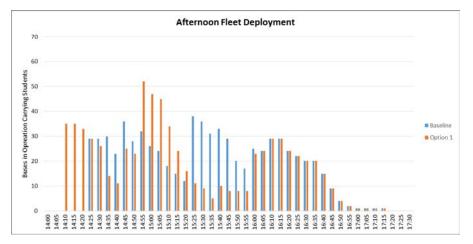

- 1 All exisiting bus runs remain intact in all scenarios.
- 2 Bus runs were linked into new bus routes based to eliminate run time conflicts and to utilize available deadhead/ layover slack time.
- 3 Special needs runs were deliberately left out of the analysis, assuming they will conform to any new bell schedule.
- 4 All private school bell times were left unchanged in all scenarios.
- 5 Private school shuttles have not been addressed in these scenarios.
- 6 Other key constraints include:
 - Avoid civil twilight violations; and
 - Keep all instructional day lengths intact.

- Accomplishes the narrow goal of moving HS later
- ES starts earlier (-0:45 or -1:15)
- Tiering efficiency is regained (compared to Option 1) but only in PM, leaving AM constraint prevalent in determining cost

High School Sleep Time Gained:

- This is the most expensive option modeled
- Also results in the smallest change to HS start time
- MS and some ES also gain 0:30 of later start time
- Additional "stacking" of bus runs at core times causes largest loss of tiering efficiency, and highest additional cost

- Same as Option 3, but with later ES start
- Moves latest drop-offs in the afternoon from the MS to the ES level, but no Civil Twilight violations result (barely).
- Moves PM deployment peak later, but with only a marginal impact on lowering demand, and therefore cost.

- Enables later start (1:00) for all HS & MS students
- Shifts deployment pattern distinctly later, causing major "stacking" problem in the afternoon, resulting in 2nd highest cost
- Model may be understating afternoon efficiency issue in this option; would require further analysis to confirm results

High School Sleep Time Gained:

- Same as Option 5, but pushes ES start time even later
- Solves the afternoon stacking issue in Option 5, enabling much more efficient tiering, and significantly lower cost
- However, twilight constraint is violated for a small number of ES students (final stop on 3 bus runs would be after Civil Twilight)

High School Sleep Time Gained: 1:15

- Twilight violation for small number of MS students
- Maximum start time gain for HS students of all options
- MS also gains 1:45; ES starts earlier than current (-0:15 or 0:45)
- Maximum tiering efficiency is gained, resulting in lowest cost of all options except baseline; A high potential for net-zero cost impact on refinement of this model
